7. I love you all.

8. Think not to/of another but me of me become me; and whoso shall I send if not you my love?

9. And thinkest not of another time space or place when into you I have given/inserted me and you released me have and sought me and tears gave me upon my pillow, wanting me/my all and withholding yourself not from me, not from my sufferings shielding yourself/your thoughts; but ultraconservative not, simply coming as a child and saying "here I am, use/be me."

10. I love you and now I send/call you; and stand and be counted not but lead the/in the revolution of me in/upon me and me leading you, lead in sorrow not, confusion not, but/with clarity of only me in me.

I die/died for you now, now take your place/role that mine is, for me you've become, becoming my father, showing my father to my fathers-to-be, in waiting they are, flanked by many to/who wait and see and ponder/pander many things/thoughts of me not me.

26. Be not afraid but/yet see only me and my father in heaven upon your throne.
